College?

(TW: Mentions of his old penname for search engine purposes. Discussions of mental health issues. Discussions of the dog and other related topics. Post 5 of ???) [Viewer Discretion is Advised]

While I believe Milo hasn't finished his degree, I do believe he did go to college. I've graded enough papers to recognize when a student knows the fundamentals of writing a paper. However, since they really don't care enough about the topic they are writing about, they'll purple prose it. Which is exactly what happened in "High Disturbance".

⚠️WARNING, I will be linking to his twitter account that contains his irl name in the handle. Blurred out here, of course!

Let's humor the idea that Milo had actually completed his degree. What we know as of 2025, via LinkedIn and "High Disturbance":

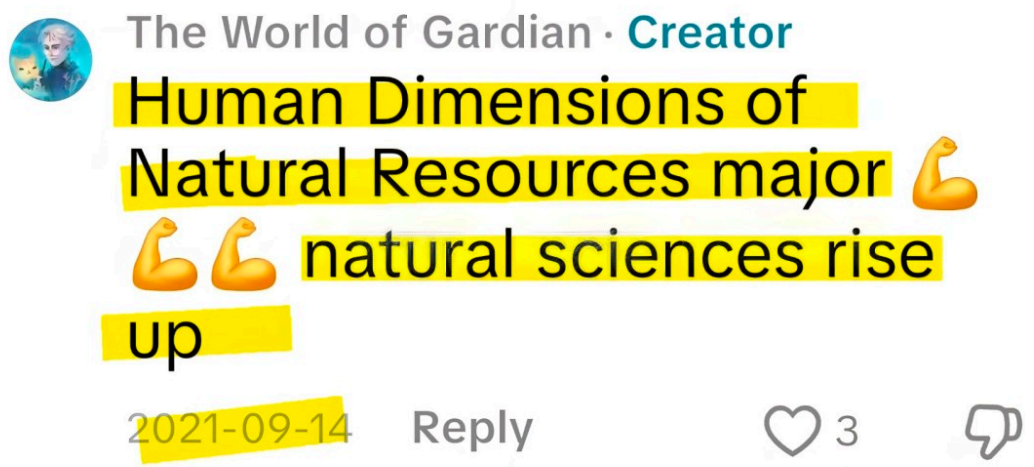
Forestry is a passion of mine—one that appears in the very first chapter of The Age of Scorpius: Conviction Woods is a cursed temperate rainforest resembling Tongass National Forest, the largest cold rainforest in the world at nearly 17 million acres (National Forest Foundation, n.d.). I started my journey as a naturalist three years ago when I began guiding van and boat tours in Colorado and Alaska.[1] While advancing through a degree in restoration ecology, I volunteered, worked, and studied in the Tongass, Roosevelt, and Arapahoe National Forests. Most recently, I toured guests out of Denver for sightseeing and hiking in Rocky Mountain National Park.

This is the college he allegedly attended AND completed his degree at, Colorado State University (here and here, vids from 2021). Graduation is slated for May 2026 and his alleged degree is Restoration Ecology and a creative writing minor.

Looking at the above videos, it does appear he was in college via his background. However, we only get four videos of him in college between the dates 8-21-2021 and 1-22-2022.

The other videos between that time frame are confusing because on 1-03-2022, he started posting from his home again. Since Milo does like to repurpose his videos, there's no telling what is true here. I checked the comment sections of those four videos and found this, which was posted 9-10-2021:
Different comment date..



And as I was going through my sources again, I found this posted on 8-21-2021: (here)

In case anyone was wondering, I'm a college student majoring in creative writing now and my TikTok has 110K for my book. Thanks to those who were here from the very beginning, this dumb app and pokemon fanfiction were my roots lmao.

Edited to add, this in from his Pinterest, I'm assuming this was sometime in 2021, (here):

Then on 6-15-2022, he stated that lived and worked at Yellowstone National Park. In the comment section of that video on 7-08-2022, check this out:

But a year later, early 2023 according to this tweet:

My education is currently postponed so I can pay off my student loans and due to a worsening disability, and I am struggling with work and functioning to try to afford Smidge. $12,000 can successfully help me afford a portion of my dog's cost, while I can work on paying monthly for the rest of the cost without pulling out another loan.

Some of the costs involved in Smidge's

Which made me stumble across this review, published in January of 2023, (here):

Summative: Students each individually research an article surrounding a microaggression they observed within the novel, write a summary on how it influenced the plot, then meet in groups to discuss. The goal is for the students to understand both how a microaggression affects plot and theme, and how it relates to the world around them. Examples of reliable sources for research include the University of Minnesota's table on microaggressions, BMC Psychology's study on microaggressions, or Columbia University's study on microaggressions.

I think the information he provided was copied and pasted from a teaching source. This is 100% phrased like materials I've read while I was getting my degree in education. Teacher candidates use this type of language while we are writing up our lesson plans. The descripency between the writing style of his review and the other students who submitted to this newsletter is glaring. We don't even need to talk about his writing style, in general, to know this isn't how he normally writes. I contacted them and did not receive a reply. But I was able to find out I can just submit something and write down my credentials. They do not check.

Given the timeline, the "tour guiding", and the factor he moved to Finland in September of 2025. Was it even possible to finish a degree?
